DESIGNED FOR LIVING

The principles which motivate design specialists at ALTOGETHER-DESIGN® elegantly focus on celebrating a client's personality

SEE THE DESIGN PROFESSIONALS when it comes to a celebration of your lifestyle. Whether it's for a residential or a commercial design project, altogether-Design® will concentrate its best attention on understanding as much as possible, beginning from the first meeting with a client.

From here, the design crew will form a clearer picture of a client's personality and factor the information into its design plans. Its view is that the client must come first, since it is he or she who will be making the most use of the finished project or property.

Nevertheless, celebrating your lifestyle must also be coupled with great ideas and specialist input. Creating original and quality designs is one of altogether-Design's top priorities. Its designers are well-trained, widely exposed and rigorously selected for the job. altogether-Design® takes pride in designing every commission, and in spending a considerable amount of time brainstorming and producing design concepts for each house, office, spa, hair salon, show gallery or other design mission. Most importantly, its designs are never repeated, so that every client stands out amongst the rest.

At altogether-Design®, the aim is also to nurture a scenario in which each client becomes a friend at the end of a project. Reaching a stage in which there is a relationship based on trust and faith between clients and designers is part of the design ideal. The company aims to build further on its solid reputation while journeying unforgettably with customers.

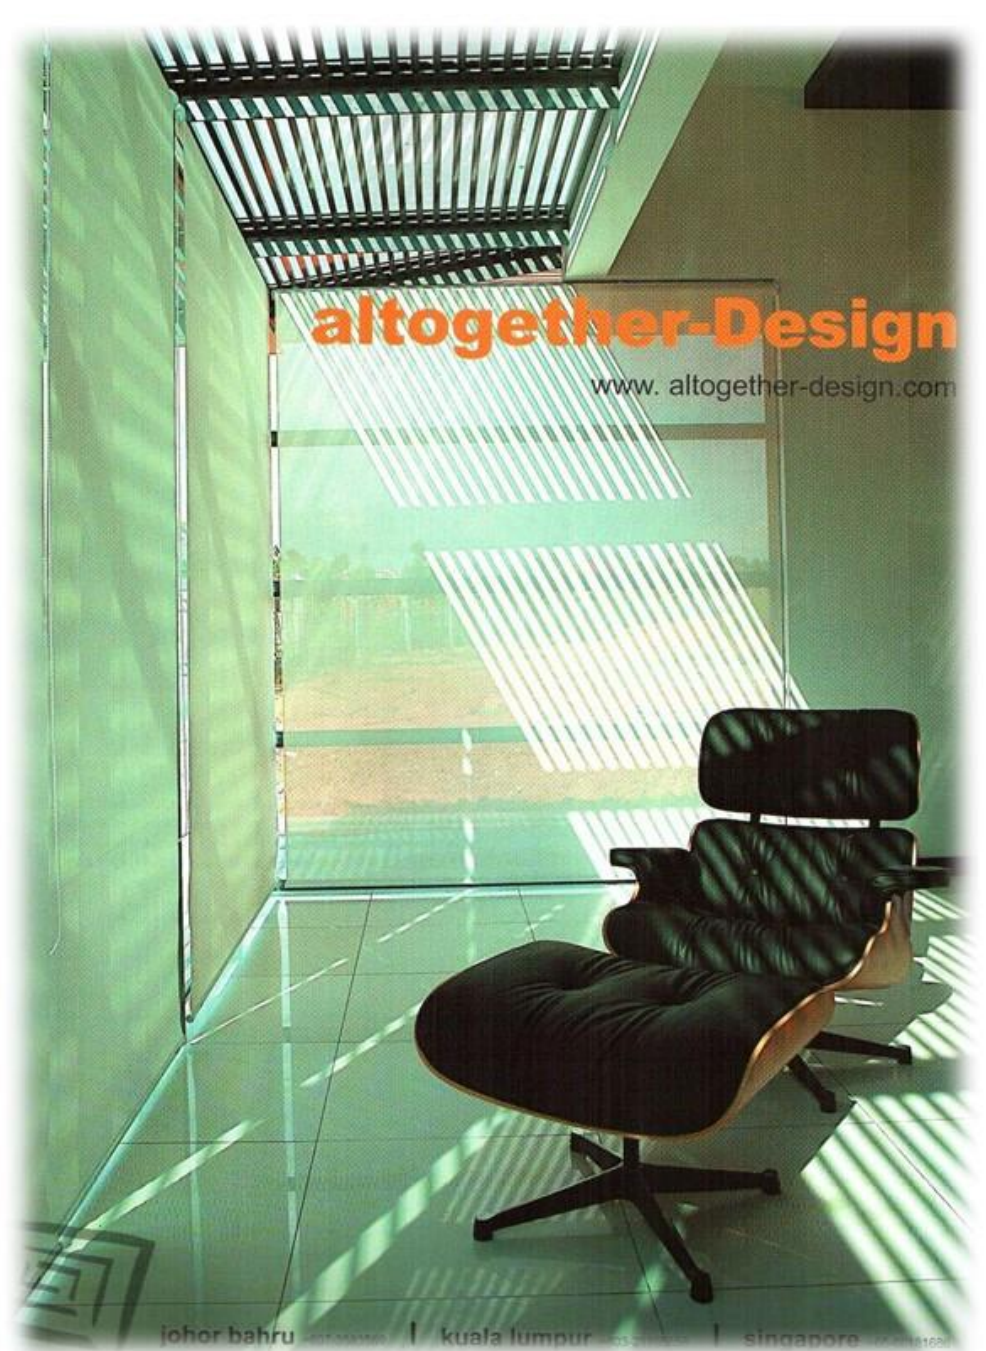

altogether-Design's offices in Kuala Lumpur, Johor Bahru and Singapore form a stable, dynamic network and an extended team which is better able to provide services beyond local boundaries. For instance, altogether-Design® was engaged as a design consultant for a property developer's project in Chengdu, China.

altogether-Design's belief in celebrating clients' lifestyles, good design and great customer service testifies to its professionalism. Principal Nicholas Tay believes that when design is properly executed with a personal and human touch, the results will be remarkable, plain for all to see – a truly pleasurable to live in.
